PROCLAMATION — Mayor Anthony Giammona has proclaimed Saturday as "Daly City School Traffic Patrol Day" this week. Looking on as the mayor signed the proclamation were Police Lieutenant Phil LaBruzzi, Denise Sharpen (left) and Donald Simon (right).

School Safety Patrol Day Proclaimed in D.C.

Mayor Giammona has proclaimed Saturday, June 2, 1973, as "Daly City School Safety Patrol Day."

The Safety Patrol, since its inception in the early 1920's, has played an important role in providing safety instructions for schoolchildren and in helping young pedestrians and bus passengers learn and fulfill responsibilities regarding highway safety.

Approximately 450 students in Daly City schools have been organized into a Safety Patrol program by the police department and administration of the involved schools.

These boys and girls who have contributed their time to the service of others in the community deserve a substantial share of credit for their efforts, Giammona said.

On June 2, the students will be the guests of McDonald's Restaurant, Daly City, for lunch following presentation of "Awards of Merit" from the stage of the Serra Theater.

Mayor Giammona, officers of the police department, representatives of the Jefferson Elementary, Brisbane, and Bayshore school districts, and the California State Automobile Association will be on hand during the presentations.

Police Chief Roland A. Petrocchi extended his thanks and congratulations to all members of the School Safety Patrol for "a job well done."

Special Class Staffing Debated

Special education staffing at Jefferson High School next year will be bound by state law, according to district Assistant Superintendent-Educational Services Dr. Floyd Gonella.

However, instructor Jeff Pelzner still is not convinced that the state established student-to-teacher ratio of 18-to-1 is sufficient.

Presently two teachers, Pelzner and Mrs. Barbara Neimeris, instruct the 19 students in the JHS program. Pelzner has expressed concern that if enrollment drops to the 18 figure next year, the program will suffer the loss of one of the two instructors and the educational process will be hampered.

Gonella has met with parents of the special education program students to explain the situation.

The administrator is holding firm in his statement that the district is merely complying to state laws.

"If we have 20 students, we will have two teachers," Gonella declared. Present enrollment predictions indicate an enrollment of 20 at Jeff High next year.

Gonella said that he believes even if there is only one teacher in the program next year the one instructor will "have ample time to be with his students." He said the instructor could spend five hours per week with work experience, five hours with social workers and 20 hours in class instruction.

He added that state law also notes if any class age span is over four years, the student to teacher ratio drops to 15 to one. Presently, it appears the Jeff High age span will fall into that category and the class will only need 15 students to secure its two instructors.

Gonella attacked previous statements by Pelzner that the program "will not survive" if it suffers the loss of one instructor.

"The statement that the program will not survive is completely erroneous," he asserted. He said that proof of the capabilities and success of a one-instructor program are seen all over the state.

"They do an excellent job with one teacher," he added.

He added that Pelzner presently makes two visits to employers of students per week when only one visitation is required and is ample. He also noted only three students in the class were on work experience last year requiring off campus time for Pelzner who serves as the special education work coordinator. He feels the same low number could occur again, leaving the instructor sufficient time to take care of class instruction.

Gonella also noted Pelzner's previous statements could have misled parents into believing the program will crumble.

Pelzner is standing firm that the program would suffer with only one instructor.

"By state law it's okay," he declared. "But if you want the best, and are willing to pay for the best, and if you believe 100 per cent in what you're doing, then you can do better than just meet state law."

He noted that the teachers, students, and parents will have no way of knowing for sure until class begins in the fall whether or not there will be one or two teachers based on enrollment.

"That's a hell of a way to do business," he offered. He criticized the law which requires the last minute decision.

"I'd like them to uphold the law," he stated. "But morally I would hope they would go beyond that."

Phyllis Hoops, special education instructor at Oceana High School in Pacifica, is one of those who teaches the program entirely by herself.

D.C. Seeking to End Cow Palace Tax Exemption

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A movement has been launched by Daly City in the State Legislature to repeal the Cow Palace's tax exempt status which that facility has enjoyed for the past ten years.

The Cow Palace was granted this status shortly after Daly City annexed the Bayshore district, an area bordering on San Francisco.

Most of the Cow Palace—or State Agricultural District, 1a, as it is legally called — lies in Daly City with a small sliver inside San Francisco County.

It is unique among the state's 50 agricultural districts in its tax exempt status.

Other districts are required to obtain local business licenses, pay local sales revenue taxes, and submit their books to local scrutiny.

But not the Daly City Cow Palace.

For years Daly City city fathers have seen the landmark as a prime source of untapped revenues. How much revenue they cannot say, according to city manager David Rowe.

On April 10, Rowe sent a letter to Assemblyman Louis Papan (Dem.-D.C.) asking for introduction of a new law that would erase the tax free status of the facility.

Papan pledged his support.

Cow Palace officials, however, said they will not take any attempt to revise their status without a battle.

Director Edward King and Cow Palace Manager Lex Connelly vowed to "fight to the bitter end" any such attempt by the state.

Meanwhile, they point out that the Cow Palace is one of only two such exhibition halls in the state that either breaks even or shows a small profit.

All "profits" are sent to the state, they quickly explain.

Districts are budgeted annually.

It is then up to the district to operate within that budget.

The Cow Palace stages two "agricultural" type shows each year — the Grand National Livestock and Junior Grand National Livestock show.

Only in recent years did the Cow Palace's board of directors start an all-out campaign to attract other exhibitors: such as car shows, motor homes, roller derbies and wrestling in order to build up a profit base.

King said some agricultural districts are a "drag on taxpayers," but the Palace has managed to keep its head above water by staging these outside exhibitions.

Rowe said he could see no reason why exhibitors that sell their goods at the Palace could not buy business licenses "like every other business operating in our city."

But Connelly and King said the business license tax, which would not be applied to "true" agricultural events for which the Palace was originally designed, would be "just a way of getting the city's foot in the door."

"Next they would levy an admissions tax and then a parking lot tax like in San Francisco. This would have a detrimental impact on attracting customers and exhibitors," King said.

He pointed to the fact that the Palace has already lost basketball and hockey teams to the newer Oakland Coliseum.

"They did lose some business to the Coliseum," Rowe agreed. "But exhibitors at the Coliseum pay local taxes and have business licenses."

The Times learned that the Welsh Catering Service, which runs the Palace's concessions, paid some $32,000 in state sales taxes in the first nine months of the current fiscal year which ends on July 1.

Rowe said that the city had no way of knowing if this were true or not "inasmuch as we do not have access to audit their books."

Some exhibitors argue their way around getting a business license by claiming they only take "prospective orders" at the Palace during a show and do not take "firm deals" until they return to their own base of operations elsewhere.

Rowe wants this changed.

"If they take an order in Daly City, they should pay us the tax on that sale. They do in every other exhibition hall and I can see no reason why the Cow Palace should be different," Rowe said.

In the past, San Francisco officials came to the aid of the Cow Palace. They felt that the world understood that this famous facility was in San Francisco—not Daly City.

They were, of course, wrong on that point.

Now, however, these same officials are not showing any signs of fighting back legislation that may impede the flow of exhibitors to the Palace.

They expect to have their own facilities in the Yerba Buena redevelopment area in the not too distant future, Connelly ventured. And for this reason they would not mind if shows cancelled out of the Palace and held their exhibitions in downtown San Francisco, he predicted.

"It would not be in our interest to impose taxes on the Cow Palace which would put them at a disadvantage with other convention centers. We would want to work with them," Rowe said.

Both King and Connelly say business is already hard to get. They claim that the shows at the Palace attract people from throughout the nation, people that fill every hotel in the area and spend their money in the North County.

King suggested Daly City buy the Palace and operate it themselves. That way they could enjoy whatever profits there are to be had. Or they could suffer any losses incurred.

Rowe said such a purchase "is entirely out of the question."

200 Attend Heated Meet

The Daly City Planning Commission took up the controversial subject of redevelopment before a crowd estimated at 200 in the Civic Center Council Chambers last week.

While there was still some shouting, catcalls and scattering of profanities hurled at the commission from the audience, the meeting was far more subdued than it was last month when one property owner threatened to "shoot the first person to set foot on my property."

Commission Chairman Leonard Brown, reappointed only Monday to another three-year term on the board by the city council, laid down stiff ground rules for persons wanting to address the commission after staff reports were made during last night's session.

Brown was required to use a heavy hand on his gavel throughout the night as some disregarded his warnings.

First to speak was Bill Chapman, president of Kierker Chapman and Associates, a San Francisco-based engineering firm.

Chapman, familiar with the area under discussion because of his previous post as Daly City city engineer, appeared at his own expense to offer opinions on redevelopment in the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station area along Knowles Avenue.

Chapman said the primary concern of the city should be "what do the people in the area want? What is their concern? And what are their desires?"

Chapman explained that the purpose of the Planning Commission meeting was not to establish methods of financing the project or even how relocation displaced residents will be carried out. Rather, the Commission at this point is concerned solely with a decision relative to where the target area will be, Chapman said.

But the Commission again failed to make that decision Tuesday following a sometimes stormy session. It was decided to study the matter further and schedule another meeting.

Legal Aid Society attorney Tom Adams, representing the membership of the Original Daly City Protective Association (ODCPA), questioned Chapman on where the traffic volume referred to in the engineer's earlier statements would come from.

Chapman replied the figures available from BART and similar highway studies indicated traffic in the area would be generated from as far away as Pacifica.

Was it Chapman's feeling BART would generate other pressures in the neighborhood resulting in land use changes, Adams asked?

"Yes," Chapman answered. "Not all change is good — there are also changes for the bad."

Adams next pointed to a map showing the nearby 140 acre Lake Merced County Club and (Please See Page 3, Col. 3)

Action on Flooding Demanded

A lawsuit demanding a court order to force the county and four North County cities to implement measures to prevent future flooding of Colma Creek was filed last week in Superior Court in Redwood City.

The suit also seeks $3.6 million damages for the Treasure Island Trailer Court and Mobile Home Park, 1700 El Camino Real, South San Francisco, plaintiffs in the case.

Attorney John V. Trump said today, "We're in the process of meeting with our experts to prepare supporting documents requesting the courts to restrain any further development in the Colma Creek watershed area pending assurance of municipalities that no further flooding would occur."

Such a court order would stop plans for thousands of apartment, townhouse and single-family units in the Serramonte Subdivision in Daly City, the Westborough Subdivision in South San Francisco and "all highland regions above the Colma Creek basin in San Bruno, Colma, South San Francisco, and Daly City," Trump said.

"Our engineers are convinced that the cause of the problem has been overdevelopment causing an overflow into Colma Creek," Trump said.

He added, "I think what's going to have to be done is greater depth in Colma Creek, as well as widening it and increasing channels which are running into it."

In addition to the county and cities, Trump named as defendants the State Highway Commission, San Mateo County (Please See Page 3, Col. 1)

In the meantime, South San Francisco patrolmen Don Culbertson, Anthony Wynne and Leo Tealdi began pursuit of McCowan and McEvoy, with San Bruno, Burlingame, Hillsborough and the HP units joining along the way.

Police said speeds were in excess of 110 miles an hour.

The pair was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, displaying a weapon, resisting arrest, hit and run driving and reckless driving, police in South San Francisco said.

McROBERT STEWART

Daly City Councilman McRobert L. Stewart, was elected as a city representative on the County Local Agency Formation Commission Monday by the City Selection Committee composed of mayors of San Mateo County cities.

Stewart, employee of a lumber company, succeeds George R. Corey, a San Bruno attorney, who has served on the commission for the past year. Corey, a member of the San Bruno City Council, did not seek reappointment because of the press of time required by his law practice and city council duties.

Stewart, nominated by Councilwoman Mary Henderson of Redwood City, a member of the Local Agency Formation Commission and designated representative of Mayor Paul C. Keckley at the City Selection Committee meeting in San Mateo, will begin a four-year term beginning June 1.

Stewart will join Mrs. Henderson as one of two city representatives on the commission. Both were named to the commission last year. Corey for one year and Mrs. Henderson for two years after members Maurice H. Milton of San Bruno and William R. Lawson of Menlo Park became ineligible after leaving their respective city councils.

The Local Agency Formation Commission, composed of five representatives from the two County Boards of Supervisors — Gerald F. Day and Jean Fassler — and a public member — Emory Morris, a San Mateo attorney.

The City Selection Committee also re-elected R. David Martin of Burlingame and Nat Landes of Woodside as city representatives to the Association of Bay Area Governments for two-year terms.

Elected alternates to the association were Gerald Pera of Half Moon Bay and Jess Salmon of Brisbane.

Guadalupe Road Job Green Light

The San Mateo County Planning Commission upheld a finding of the county engineer's office last week and determined that construction of a third lane of Guadalupe Canyon Parkway across San Bruno Mountain will not have a significant effect on the area environment.

Two area residents protested the action, urging a delay for further study because the parkway, scheduled for eventual widening to four lanes, is adjacent to the proposed San Bruno Mountain Regional Park and to the proposed Crocker Land Company development.

Ms. Mimi Whitney of Brisbane argued with findings that the additional lane, proposed to provide a passing area for cars around slow-moving trucks on uphill grades, would not increase traffic, would not add to noise levels and would not affect the esthetic values of the area.

Deputy County Engineer Robert Sans reported that the third lane would be utilized to provide a passing lane on uphill grades, with the downhill sections remaining one-lane.

In response to Ms. Whitney's assertion that no provision was noted in the report relative to landscaping, Sans said that this matter will not be considered until after it is determined what is planned for the park site on one side of the roadway and for

Garden Valley

Storm Drain Job To Start Soon

Construction of a connecting link in the Garden Valley storm drain system in Daly City is expected to get underway within the next three months.

V. K. Sanders, of the San Mateo County Engineer's Office, told the Daly City city council Monday cost of a 1,400 foot long pipeline between Daly City and Colma Creek would cost an estimated $634,500.

And it was not likely the system would be completed before the first rains come in October, Sanders said.

The Garden Valley section of the city has been hard hit in recent years by flooding, causing thousands of dollars in damage to homes and property.

In an effort to alleviate the flood problem the city passed a 5 cent per $100 of assessed valuation surcharge on the property tax rate to pay for a larger storm until it hits a smaller pipeline in the county's portion of the area and then backs up.

Sanders said the pipeline should be completed by December, following a series of public hearings on the issue.

First of these hearings will be held June 6 at the Daly City city hall.

Because much of the so-called "contributing watershed" is in the San Bruno Mountain area, along Guadalupe Canyon Parkway, the county feels the burden of assessments needed to pay for that portion of the drain system come from the land owners — Crocker Land Company (Foremost McKesson).

According to the engineer, financing of the project would come from the State ($54,800); federal government funding ($134,200); San Mateo County ($70,000), and the remainder from establishment of a special assessment district.

Landowners in such a district would be required to pay at the rate of $800 per acre for residential property, or $100 for the average 5,000 square foot lot. Commercial landowners would pay double that amount — some $1600 per acre.

Crocker owns some 1600 acres in the contributing watershed area.

Asked if Crocker would also have to pay for that land expected for either commercial or residential development — Sanders said they would.

He added that the county is expecting to buy back certain lands for a park at a later date. Meanwhile, Crocker would be assessed, if the district is established, at the expected future land usage rate.

Daly City's sharing of the pipeline cost would be "zeroed out" by the fact they have already paid for a portion of the drainage system through the Garden Valley area.

The system as it exists today, because of the funneling of water from the larger Daly City line into the smaller county pipeline, was called "totally inadequate" by Sanders.

Former mayor Bernard Lyett asked if the system would be completed before the next rains hit the area — usually October through December — and was told "no."

Lyett asked if the county could make a temporary "holding pond" to trap waters instead of letting them back into the Garden Valley area and was told this was "not feasible."

NEW ASSEMBLY BOUNDARIES — Here's what happens to San Mateo County if the bill passed by the State Assembly and Senate and now before Gov. Reagan becomes law. The Pacifica area becomes an almost detached tail of San Francisco's Nineteenth Assembly District dog, North County's Twenty-seventh Assembly district pokes a finger down a narrow corridor that divides sections of four cities (San Mateo, Belmont, San Carlos and Redwood City). The present south county 26th Assembly District loses Woodside and Portola Valley as well as West Menlo Park to a Thirty-first Assembly District dominated by Santa Cruz and Santa Clara counties, but picks up Montara, Moss Beach, Princeton and El Granada which are miles away across the mountains, and also divides San Mateo, Burlingame, Belmont, San Carlos and Redwood City with the north county district.

Gregorio May Block Remap Efforts

State Sen. Arlen Gregorio, current reapportionment goes through. "I have the votes to get my bill to secure a State Constitutional Amendment on Reapportionment out of committee," as he castigated the recent passage by Senate and Assembly of what he called "outrageous" reapportionment bills.

The Gregorio bill, he explained, would establish an independent non-partisan reapportionment commission which would have full and complete authority to reapportion the state senate, assembly and congressional districts every ten years or in special cases.

The latter refers particularly to a possible second reapportionment for the elections in 1976 if passage is secured in 1974, regardless of whether the accessible to the voters of these areas. Also, the vote of these areas can have an important effect upon their election.

"Here's what happens to these areas on the reapportionment plans that were voted."

"They will be represented by two senators from San Francisco in a district where over three quarters of the voters are San Franciscans and they will be represented by an assemblyman from Santa Cruz and nine tenths of the voters would be in Santa Cruz or in southern Santa Clara County."

"There is no conceivable community of interest," Gregorio said, "that these people have with the controlling majority of voters in the district in which they find themselves."

"Pacifica," he continued, "finds itself in a similar situation with its assemblyman and senators all from San Francisco which would have three quarters of the Senate vote and about four fifths of the determining vote for Assembly."

"There is no reason under the recent U.S. Supreme Court case law why San Mateo County should not remain as a single Senate district and two Assembly districts. The most recent case indicated that in order to accomplish a recognition of communities of interest on the local level that a deviation of 16 1/2 per cent from the one-man, one-vote standard was acceptable. San Mateo County's population change comes in at less than 12 per cent."

The San Mateo state senator said he is hopeful that when the combined bill gets to Governor Reagan, it will be vetoed.

If the veto is upheld by the Legislature, then the Legislature would either have to draw an objective plan — or he saw little such possibility — or the State Supreme Court would draw up a reapportionment plan and put it into action, he said.

Gregorio said that there is no possibility of his constitutional amendment becoming effective before 1976. Since there are no regular state elections between 1974 and 1976, the effect would actually be expected in 1976.

Subdivision Sites Dwindle on Coast

Time was when investors would look over at Pacifica's grass-covered, tree-speckled, rugged hills and sigh: "What a site for a subdivision!"

With all those wide open spaces rising behind Pacifica's homes, in fact, projections for the city's ultimate population at times zoomed as high as 100,000 people.

A document to be presented to the Pacifica City Council soon will mark a final turnabout that has been going on for the past year in the thinking of Pacifica's future. The document was presented Wednesday night to the Planning Commission meeting in study session. It has a June 30 deadline for transmittal to the state.

Called the "Open Space Element," it includes five maps of Pacifica. Unlike the hundreds of subdivision maps that the planners have poured over during the past 15 years, this one has no new roads at all for Pacifica.

Instead, it shows most of Pacifica in areas that will not be developed.

One map, the "natural features" map, shows the major natural topographical features of Pacifica's terrain. It shows major tree stands—Valleamar, San Francisco Water Department, Oddstad Park and others—the ridgelines which spread throughout Pacifica—its five major live creeks, and its beaches. Miller recommends that the plan preserve all natural features.

Another map shows the slopes over 35 per cent, most of which will be kept unbuilt upon under the Hillside Preservation Ordinance.

DA Appeals Ruling On Drug Use Law

A legal flap has developed in San Mateo County over the interpretation of a new law which allows for first-time marijuana, heroin and cocaine users to be placed into special community programs instead of facing prosecution.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson disclosed Wednesday that Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan has held unconstitutional a provision that states a person can be diverted from criminal proceedings into special programs only with his consent and that of the district attorney.

Sorenson contends he has the legal right to block diversion and has appealed Ragan's ruling to the State District Court of Appeal. A hearing is pending.

Sorenson, at his daily press conference, said, "I am uncertain as to the benefits of the diversionary program — as compared to convictions and probation under close supervision, which was the existing program before the new law."

The new legislation, which was co-authored by Redwood City Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, among other things, provides for special proceedings in narcotic possession cases.

The law amended the Penal Code to provide that a person charged with possession of marijuana, cocaine or other drugs can have his case referred to the probation department for a study and recommendation as to whether his case should be suspended while he receives community-based treatment or education for drug abuse problems.

In order to be eligible for consideration for diversion a defendant must have no prior narcotics convictions, violations of probation or parole, or involvement with violence during his drug arrest, Sorenson said.

The district attorney added that he personally has been reviewing each application for diversion since the practice was initiated in San Mateo County a few weeks ago.

Approximately 30 to 40 persons have been diverted, for periods ranging from six months to two years. Most of the defendants have been charged with misdemeanor possession of small amounts of marijuana.

To avoid criminal prosecution, they've promised to attend six-week educational programs on marijuana at College of San Mateo, Sorenson said.

He explained that the individual diversions must be approved by the court as well as his office, the probation department and the defendant.

The legal argument revolves around Sorenson's contention that he can block a diversion.

If the defendant successfully performs and stays away from drugs, the court must dismiss the charges at the end of the diversionary period; if one fails to perform satisfactorily, prosecution is reinstated.

Sorenson said to date there have been no violations in the diversion program.

Shot Kills Horse on Coastside

A five-year-old gelding pastured at a Princeton stable was shot once over the right eye and fatally injured Wednesday morning.

According to Deputy Sheriff Les Caldwell, the animal, owned by Michelle Roberta Hogan, a 25-year-old waitress from Sacramento, had apparently pulled a stake from the ground and dragged itself almost to the residence on the property at California and Yale Avenue before dropping dead.

The owner of the stable, John D. Bently, 34, a teacher at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica, reported that his 12-year-old daughter removed two of their own horses and the gelding from a stable around 6:30 a.m. and staked them out in a grazing area.

About 7:15 a.m. a woman came to the door and informed the family that a dead horse was lying in front of the house. A small bullet wound, apparently from a .22-caliber rifle, was found above the right eye.

The horse, "Indio," was valued at $500.

The other two horses were still grazing apparently undis-

Flood Control District, Macys, Kaiser Foundation Hospital and 19 contractors, sub-contractors and investors.

Colma Creek serves as a natural drainage for portions of Daly City, San Bruno, Colma and South San Francisco into San Francisco Bay.

Flooding this year and in years past has caused millions of dollars of damage. Among those hardest hit have been industrialists in South San Francisco.

Trump's suit places the blame on the land development preparation in the Westborough and Serramonte developments.

He also charges that contributing factors causing flooding include:

—The diversion of Colma Creek from its natural flow by Macys in Colma, allegedly resulting in slowing the flow and passage of water.

—A claim that prior to its construction, Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco "brought into the site many thousands of cubic yards of earth, soil and fill in a loose and not compacted state, and rose the level of lands 10 feet above the top of the bank of Colma Creek without constructing any retaining walls at its outer boundaries to contain the fill within its limits."

"This resulted in fill emptying into the Colma Creek, causing threat of injury and property in the vicinity," the lawsuit asserts.

But the thrust of the flooding cause, Trump's suit contends, has been the treatment of land, primarily in the Westborough and Serramonte areas.

He alleges that in order to make the lands developable, contractors "negligently, carelessly and recklessly" filled creeks and canyons and retention pond basins which could have acted as "natural diversions" of water runoffs instead of into the Colma Creek system.

The suit also alleges that developers failed to protect retention basins.

As a result of these factors, and others, Trump contends that last October 11 and January 9 through 11 "rainwaters falling on these lands were caused to be diverted and concentrated in greater volume than normal in the general direction downhill toward and into Colma Creek, carrying with them into the creek, and with great force and violence, an abnormally large volume of sand, soil, silt, rocks, boulders and other debris eroded from development site excavations."

Damage on those four days to the plaintiff's mobile home and trailer park was $71,118, Trump said.

The multitude of factors has rendered Colma Creek permanently incapable of carrying and draining away into it from the Colma Watershed lands, Trump said.

As a result, residents and businessmen situated on both sides of the creek face constant fear of flooding and "a health hazard" because of debris allegedly brought into the creek from developments.

Trump termed the condition a "nuisance" and asked the court to legally declare it such in order to force modifications to prevent future flooding.

The 42-page lawsuit held South San Francisco, San Bruno, Daly City, Colma, the county, the flood district and the state responsible because of their powers to approve development and improvement plans and requirements.

Unless corrections are made, Trump said all businesses on both sides of the creek "will be rendered unsafe for habitation and valueless commercially."

the Crocker project on the other.

"This is a safety project," Sans stated, "so that cars can pass slow-moving trucks."

Mrs. Betty Higgins, of South San Francisco, contended that the addition of a third lane would make it easier for trucks to use the route and, consequently, would increase truck traffic.

She urged that the commission delay action and, agreeing with Ms. Whitney, requested that other agencies be consulted before a widening is authorized.

"There is possibly an alternate way," Mrs. Higgins stated. "We don't want the transportation element wagging the tail of the dog."

Sans noted that the project will be constructed on existing right-of-way, and will require no additional property. Furthermore, he said, the master plan for the area designates Guadalupe as an eventual four-lane highway across the mountain.

asking the Planning Commission why this undeveloped area could not be used to alleviate pressures instead of razing homes and displacing some 7,000 persons?

Chapman called Adams' attention to organizations such as the Sierra Club which frowned on development of open lands.

Chapman later said he singled out the Sierra Club to indicate that building on open lands, such as the Country Club, was not a simple matter.

Further, the club is located in an unincorporated area of the county.

The former city engineer said he was not agreeing or disagreeing there was "blight" in the projected target area. He was merely asking if "you should stop (blight) before it starts."

Conrad Pavellas, co-chairman of the ODCPA, repeatedly asked about the financial aspects of such a project and how values of homes and property would be affected by redevelopment.

He was reminded by the commission that such information was not readily available and that the position of the board was to either approve or disapprove boundaries of any redevelopment program for the city.

City Mgr. David Rowe, also the agency's executive manager, explained to Pavellas that under the law an agency to assist persons in relocating must be established.

Another opponent of the city's project, William Swanson, who refused to give his address to the commission, said the commission "by trying to develop (the area) is actually impeding development."

He asked that the city allow homeowners to negotiate their own deals with private developers.

The Rev. Hosey Spears said the city must be planning to "put us somewhere" if and when redevelopment comes in

DC Garden Club

Meeting June 5

The Daly City Garden Club will meet June 5 at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room of the War Memorial Building on Mission Street.

LeRoy Cramer, vice president of the Men's Garden Club of San Mateo, will speak.

There also will be a miniature horticulture show.

And asked, "What do you plan to do with the people?" And if the area isn't blighted, Spears said, "I don't think BART should come before people."

"People must come before BART," Chapman agreed.

He said Daly City provides police and fire protection. And on more than one occasion has had to use extra police and firemen to aid the Palace.

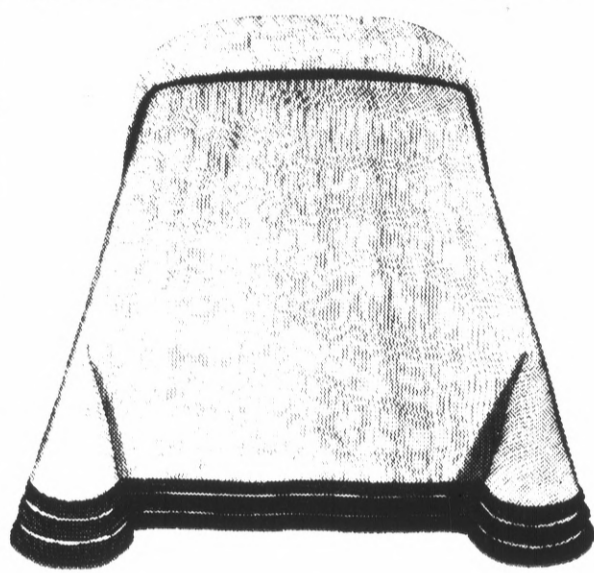

"For all this we get nothing in return," Rowe said. It is no secret that Daly City is miffed with Cow Palace directors, especially King, who according to one official, "we appointed to that (Cow Palace) board."

Daly City has two directors on the board: King and Tony Masini. Masini was not available for comment.

Nurseryman King admits some officials in Daly City were instrumental in getting him the appointment.

He noted, however, that his allegiance is to the people "by doing the best job I know how, and that's what I'm doing," he said.

Tractor Operator Falls, Dies

John Zumwalt, 62, a tractor operator of 610 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco, died on May 22 at Peninsula hospital—several hours after suffering a fall while at work as a tractor operator on a South San Francisco construction project.

According to Coroner's Investigator Steve Hortin, Zumwalt, an employee of Tillo Products of South San Francisco, had run out of gas shortly before noon.

He had gone home for lunch, and when he returned to work he had gotten on a tractor driven by another operator to take some gas out to his stalled vehicle.

Fellow employees reported when he leaped from the moving tractor, he apparently fell against his own tractor. They said he momentarily lost consciousness. He came to in a few minutes, however, and asked that his wife, Lillian, be notified he was being taken to Peninsula hospital in an ambulance.

Hortin reported he died about two hours later in the hospital emergency room.

An autopsy will be performed today to determine the cause of death. Hortin reported Zumwalt suffered a large abrasion on his left chest.

SSF Red Cross Center to Open

Designed to increase the San Mateo Region's ability to bring Red Cross programs directly to the community, the Linden Avenue Service Center will offer on-going Red Cross activities and programs. Among these services are nursing instruction, including classes in mother and baby care, home nursing and Superstitchers; audio and vision screening; vital English training; assistance to the serviceman, his family and veterans; disaster relief; Red Cross water safety instruction, and first aid.

Staff coordinator for the newly created office is Miss Linda Schutte, former Red Cross youth consultant for the San Mateo Region. Miss Schutte states she hopes everyone in the South San Francisco Community will attend the open house and get to know how they can take an active part in the Red Cross organization.

Cab Driver Is Beaten

A cab driver was robbed and pistol-whipped at 1:23 a.m. today in an isolated section of San Bruno, police reported today.

The driver, Ralph S. Shaw, of Daly City, picked up his passenger at the cab stand in front of the Mills Park Market on El Camino Real. The man asked to go to an address on Piedmont Drive in Crestmoor Park.

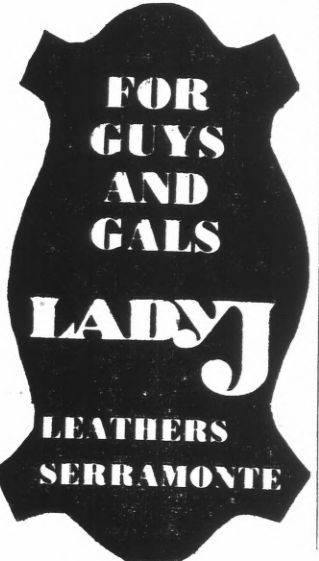

At Crestmoor Drive and Piedmont Drive, the passenger raised a .38-caliber pistol to the cab driver's neck and demanded his money. The cab driver handed over $50.

"Is there all there is?" the passenger demanded. He then started hitting the cab driver with his gun. The driver grabbed his arm and the gun went off with the bullet going through a window.

When last seen, the robber was running north on Crestmoor Drive. Police report that they have some leads to his identity and hope to have him under arrest soon.

Bruno Burglary

San Brunan Bryant S. McGrath, resident of the Shelter Creek Lane apartments, reported to police that his apartment was burglarized of personal property valued at $3,985. Included in the loss was a shotgun, ring, television, movie camera and projector, and stereo and amplifier, police said.

Consultant Hired For Health Study

A $40,000 six-month contract for Booz-Allen Public Administration Services, Inc., to provide consultant services in the current health care planning study being conducted by the San Mateo County Health and Welfare Department was approved on May 22 by the Board of Supervisors.

County Manager M.D. Tarshes and County Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett recommended the action, noting that the board had agreed last year to appropriate up to $75,000 for consultant services in the study which is expected to determine whether Chope Community Hospital will continue in operation or whether area health clinics will be established, with hospital services being contracted for with private and district hospitals.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald expressed concern that the county study might be a "fragmentary approach" to the overall health needs of the county's residents. He asked how the county study would compare with the study being undertaken by a consortium organized by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

Pickett stated the consortium does not include representation from the county. He noted, furthermore, that the county, with a medical care budget requiring 25 per cent of the property tax rate to finance, is virtually obligated to conduct its own study of needs and services. The official said that the county study will not overlap the CHPC study.

In requesting the services of the consulting firm, Pickett said it is necessary to obtain "outside skills" not available in San Mateo County government.

The Health and Welfare Department head assured the board that Booz-Allen is not being asked to do the study, but to join in as a member.

This was echoed by Tarshes, who reported that hiring of Booz-Allen is not a new study, but a "new tool" for an ongoing study by the Health Department's task force team.

County Asks Money for Drug Fight

Application for a $289,783 grant from the state to finance enlargement of the San Mateo County drug abuse program was authorized May 22 by Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Howard Gurevitz, who is in charge of the program, said that the funds will be used to provide a 24-hour residential detoxification project at Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center at a cost of $232,279, providing a 15-bed facility.

Also, the funds will create an education and consultation program, involving the San Mateo Community College District and the County Adult Probation Department, to assist in the handling of individuals diverted from the criminal justice system (minor drug offenders, not hard-core addicts) to a treatment, educational or rehabilitation program, at a cost of $7,075.

The remainder of the funds will be allocated to cover administrative support costs of the program in the Department of Health and Welfare, an estimated expense of $50,429.

Gurevitz said the funds are expected to supplement current county programs, and, in answer to questions from the board, stated that a complete explanation of the project will be forthcoming in budget hearings scheduled by the board starting June 11.

Gurevitz also warned that the amount of funds requested may not be forthcoming, and that it may be necessary to modify the program after it is determined how much financial support the county will receive.

Year Round School Loses

A proposal for year round school at Millbrae's Glen Oaks School was rejected last week by the Millbrae School District Board of Education.

Several district trustees questioned the feasibility of initiating year-round school immediately but added it might become a reality sometime in the near future.

Trustee Dr. Larry Foster said, "In Glen Oaks and our other schools, we're working on a good plan of education. I firmly believe some form of year round education will take place in California at some time, but are we ready now?"

The board had rejected the year round school proposal despite remarks by Principal Harold Fritz who suggested that his staff and approximately two-thirds of the parents of Glen Oaks students favored the plan.

Trustee Dr. Gerald Poppers noted, however, that "with one parent in opposition to each two in favor of the plan, I don't feel we should be tied to the program now. A decision could be made in January or February, for implementation in 1974. I don't think it will hurt to wait another year."

Trustee Remo Boragno said if the plan is approved and proves successful at Glen Oaks "it should be made district-wide, since it's not possible for us to have two plans, due to costs, which I believe would be greater than what we are now spending on summer school."

Health Aide Graduation In Daly City

The San Mateo County Home-maker-Health Aide Program held graduation ceremonies in Room 507, on the campus of Jefferson High School, Daly City, recently.

This event marks the second class of trainees to become accredited as Homemaker-Health Aides. The Homemaker program was begun as an alternative to hospitalization or institutional living as authorized by State law. This newly formed program is designed to assist many aged, blind, and disabled in sustaining themselves in their own homes.

The program has been heralded as a realistic approach to serving the elderly and incapacitated, and has other worthwhile attributes such as:

1. Employment is created for the otherwise unemployable.
2. People are taken off welfare rolls.

3. The program costs to the County are extremely low.

Although this program has many social and psychological advantages it also provides management and maintenance, personal care and related supportive services, and helps, by demonstration, to improve housekeeping and self-care functions.

Mrs. Alice Gonzales, the Program Director, remarked: "This program not only assures the elderly of dignified care, it also provides an opportunity to the unemployed and unemployable in their neighborhoods and communities."

Graduates were: Esther Bawden, Althea Cagler, Fe De Carvajal, Wardell Christie, Charles Dix, Esther Fischer, Dianna Foster, Iola Griffin, Lorraine Haffen, Sofia Jimenez, Consuelo Nunez, Pat Patackas, Esther Ramirez, Carmen Ricci, Margaret Scarborough, Laura Tone, Sadie Warren and Mary Jane Williams.

Good morning, good cooks. Information . . . it takes 72 muscles to frown and only 14 to smile. So in this time of power shortage, conserve muscle power . . . smile. Now that you're smiling, I'll try to keep you in this mood by sharing some recipes, that will make your family smile also.

BANANA BREAD

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 2 tablespoons sour milk
- 1/2 cups mashed banana
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

In large mixing bowl cream the one-half cup butter and one cup sugar; add the two well beaten eggs. Mix well. Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder and one-half teaspoon soda. Add to creamed mixture alternately with the two tablespoons milk and one and one-half cups mashed banana. Stir in the half cup chopped nuts. Pour into greased loaf pan 9x5x3-inch.

Bake in 350-degree oven, 45 to 55 minutes. Cool completely before slicing.

Quick breads are really a joy. They are easy to make, freeze beautifully and serve equally well as a bread with the meal, a dessert or as a breakfast treat. You have to admit that's a lot to get out of a bit of flour, sugar, egg, milk etc.

CANADIAN LEMON BREAD

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 eggs, beaten

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup milk
- Grated rind of one lemon

SAUCE

- Juice of one lemon
- 1/4 cup sugar

In mixing bowl blend the half cup shortening and two beaten eggs. Sift together the half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder and one cup sugar. Add to the creamed mixture along with the half cup milk. Mix well. Stir in the grated lemon rind and pour into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350-degrees for one hour.

Meantime combine the juice of one lemon with the fourth cup sugar and mix well. When you remove the bread from the oven spoon the lemon sauce over top so the juice will soak in as the bread cools. Cool completely and serve thinly sliced and buttered.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY ★ LLOYD JOHNSON

Whiskey Hill Group Big Burlingame Click

Visions, the new group headlining Wednesdays through Sundays at Whiskey Hill, in downtown Burlingame, features several well known musicians from the Bay Area rock scene. On drums is Richard Spremich from Malo. Rich Healy from Paul Butterfield plays guitar. Lead vocalist is Bob Olivera, past member of Cold Blood. . . . Moy's, a small but cozy Chinese restaurant on Peninsula Avenue, is a wise choice for lunch. One particular luncheon favorite includes five different dishes (beef, fried rice, spareribs, egg roll and shrimp) . . . Vince Russo has quite a crew of gals working as bartenders at his Russo's Distillery in San Bruno. Pouring good drinks and making easy conversation are Margy, Adrienne and Buttons. . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, owners and operators of Torres Beach restaurant in Montara, just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One, are famed throughout the state of California for their South American specialty dishes. Papa Rellenos are the best known of these delicacies, and we suggest you try one on your next trip to the coast.

Saluto's Entertainment Package Draws Crowds

Larry Galdi's seven nights a week entertainment package, San Francisco style, for his Burlingame Saluto's is a popular attraction with the airline crowd. The dynamite trio of Inez Jones serves up quality blues Tuesday through Saturday, with the Doug Arrington Trio picking up the bill on Sunday and Monday evenings. Full fingerfood service, dancing, and cocktail service continues until 2 a.m. Bill Cosby recently spent two nights in the Presidential Suite at the San Francisco Hilton Inn and caused a major epidemic of laughter to break out. In fact, General Manager Horst Dziura told Cosby that if he came up with two good jokes, the suite would be free. Needless to say, Cosby had Dziura in stitches and his visit was on the house. United Air Lines gave a testimonial dinner for retired maintenance men Fred Page and Ted Schowalter, and 300 attended the event, which took place in the Hilton Inn's Savoy Ballroom. . . . Elton Poris' rollicking interpretation of the great ballad, "Before the Parade Passes By," is wowing 'em at Finocchio's. Elton, an all-round performer, is winning audits with his singing, comedy and zany style of dancing.

New Brentwood Lodge Dinner Menu Is Great

The new dinner menu recently introduced at the Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco has proven a big success. Much of the culinary credit goes to Bob Checci and Burt Zanders, who are responsible for the high quality fare served here. Of course, the reasonable prices for complete dinners has its drawing power, too. Also available are many a la carte items. . . . George Ford and his lovely wife, Ida, were hosted to a fun affair at Harrah's Club in Reno by Bud Taylor. The occasion was Ida's birthday, and included a birthday cake, a big steak dinner, and overnight lodging. Bud, who is Groundsman and Supervisor of Fitzgerald Field, is a "steady Reno commuter" and makes Harrah's his Reno headquarters. . . . For a sandwich switch: Next time try the Sandwich King, located on East Third Avenue in San Mateo. They have more combinations here than a Bay Meadows Exacta — and each one is a winner. . . . Thursday night departures for the Tiburon Champagne Dinner Cruise from Pier 43½ at Fisherman's Wharf are 6:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m. Last year over 12,000 persons enjoyed this romantic dinner cruise to beautiful Tiburon, which includes dancing on board with a live band, a free champagne party and your choice of dining at any of five famous Tiburon restaurants.

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Vince's Is "Foodmark" And "Landmark" For All

Vince Licata's Italian and Seafood restaurant has been a Peninsula "foodmark" and "landmark" for tourists and locals, alike, since its opening in 1945. Needless to say, Vince's is a favorite with executives in charge of booking luncheons and special dinners. A sweeping menu of culinary specialties, ranging from appetizers (clams on halfshell, crab, and oysters) to countless "stream and sea" dishes to assorted Italian favorites are prepared by chefs who really know their business. Among the gourmet entrees: Roast Chicken and Polenta (a Sunday Special), Prawns Newburg, and Veal Parmigiana (served with choice of spaghetti, ravioli, vegetable or potatoes) . . . Groups planning treks to South Lake Tahoe, Nevada, may take advantage of Park Avenue Tours' one-night (Wednesday or Saturday) offer or the two-night special (Friday and Saturday). Greyhound buses whisk you to the bright lights of Stateline, where the bonus refunds add delight to any trip. Let Park Avenue Tours (with four locations to serve you) help you plan an exciting time in Nevada.

ACTOR-SINGER-IMPRESSIONIST — Jim Bailey, a super star in the entertainment galaxy, opens in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel on May 31, through June 10. Whether he performs a Judy Garland or Barbra Streisand or Phyllis Diller, Bailey stuns nightclub patrons with his extraordinary ability to recreate their voices, exact intonations and gestures.

Bay Meadows Race Meet Will Conclude Sat., June 2

Hurry on down to Bay Meadows in San Mateo and enjoy the final days of the Quarter Horse Race Meet, which ends Saturday, June 2. Racing now Tuesdays through Saturdays; first race at 7:45 p.m.; dinner and cocktails from 6:30 p.m. The coming attraction for Saturday night, June 2, is the Bay Meadows Futurity with a purse of $100,000 (Est). The current meet has been very successful and will be followed by the San Mateo Fair Racing July 30 through August 11. . . . Scotty Campbell's, known as the "In spot" for celebrities and visitors from all walks of life, serves dinner in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere, which boasts a rich decor. The owners take great pride in the select menu, which reaches every taste. There is never a parking problem at this prestige Redwood City restaurant. . . . Palatable continental cuisine is served during luncheon and dinner in a sophisticated atmosphere at the Iron Horse, one of San Francisco's finest restaurants located on Maiden Lane. Banquet rooms, accommodating up to 100 persons (with a private bar), are available for special entertaining.

Jack Ross Returns To Miyako Hotel Bandstand

Caught the late show at the Miyako Hotel (Post and Laguna in San Francisco), the other evening, and to say San Francisco's own Jack Ross and The Sounds of Joy are making the Miyako Hotel cash registers sound like Nevada jackpots is putting it mildly. Judging from the big crowds that are flocking here, it looks like a record-breaking run for "Jackson." Music and vocals are super, with Jack Ross trumpeting at his best. Phil Brazil is on trumpet; ditto, Andy Wilson. Ross Gualco at piano; Rich Fomgheiser, drum; Don Kane, bass; Norman Michaels, vocals, and the lead singer is Val Diamond. The group will be bringing "sounds of joy" to the Miyako Hotel through June 2, then swing into the Sahara Tahoe Hotel for a June 4 opening. By the way, when visiting the Miyako, say hello to personable and energetic Mike J. Emizawa, new restaurant and bar manager here. . . . Italian food featured at Bertolucci's restaurant in South San Francisco is prepared in the old San Francisco tradition. One of many favorites on the varied menu is Cannelloni Rossini in Marinara and White Sauce. Their famous Espresso is also a treat. It's prepared in their original Cappuccini machine, which is completely automatic and imported from Italy.

Had to Gag

WATCHING THE "MISS USA" contest the other night I had to gag. When asked: "If you had your choice would you like to go back or forward in time?" one young miss replied she would like to go back to the 1940s. Why? "Because of the clothing styles," she smilingly answered. To our knowledge the "styles" were khaki, sometimes worn with red bandages.

Another exclaimed she wanted to go back to the 1930s. I wouldn't mind going back to the 1930s myself, except my memories of that particular era were of empty stomachs and pocketbooks to match.

THESE "BEAUTY" contests" impress this humble (but warmly devoted) columnist as being a waste of time and an insult to the one's intelligence. Talk about exploiting people. Beauty is something that comes from within, not from without.

HOW IN THE WORLD those planning commissioners in Daly City can sit through those catcalls and insults is beyond me. We are, of course, talking about those recent hearings into redevelopment of a section of Daly City around the BART station. We aren't saying we're for or against this project at the present time.

We are, however, against those loudmouths who sit in the back of the room and mock every word said by anyone opposed to their views. As comedian Shecky Greene says, when confronted with an especially eager heckler, "Put the lid on that garbage pail."

AND WASN'T Legal Aid attorney Tom Adams witty when he suggested that the Lake Merced Country Club be developed into housing to relieve pressure in the BART station area instead of the already built up area around the station which is, whether some folks want to agree or not, feeling the effects of time.

By the same token, perhaps Marchbanks Park could be developed into a housing project. It would be nice if Adams and his vociferous backers offered some constructive ideas, not the idiotic prattle we've heard in the few meetings we've attended where he's spoken.

ATTENTION BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Would it be too much to ask that supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler reply to those letters sent to her by some of her constituents along Mission Street in Daly City requesting an answer to the interesting question of why the county's second largest city pays the same amount in traffic fines and forfeitures ($65,650) as do Brisbane, San Bruno, South San Francisco, Colma and Pacifica combined ($65,333)? Now that the Mission street area has been split in half — Supervisor Fitzgerald gets a portion and Mrs. Fassler the other slice — perhaps both might respond to the question?

MISSION MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION president Vince Merlo broke the news of the district split at a recent lunch held in — Colma.

YOU STILL THINK that gasoline shortage is a fake? Tell it to Frank Monte who hasn't had a drop in his station tanks for the past 11 days. Still better, tell it to his customers who drive in smiling and drive out fuming (with empty tanks, yet).

ALL THOSE WATERGATE jokes are getting to me. Latest: "Only last year everyone was shouting 'Nixon, four more years.' Now they're shouting '15 to 20 years.'" And Dick Cavett: "There's a new alcoholic beverage on the market. You put it on the TV and the proof builds up overnight."

Still another from Johnny Carson during the Emmy Awards last week, after a direction credited his entire staff for their part in the television production: "I haven't heard that much credit given to others since the James McFord hearings today."

Where will it all end? And soon we hope!

LOUIE LOUGEVILLE of Windsor Drive, Daly City, is the new president and chairman of the Board at French Hospital, replacing Leon Broussal of Daly City. Rene Calonge, also of Daly City, is second VP at the medical center.

IT IS ONLY FAIR TO let you know that the JESD (that's short for Jeff Elementary School District) has signed an annual agreement with the firm of Public Labor Relations, Inc., which includes the services of Gene Aiello, attorney David Friedenberg and (at last report) Ray Vetterlein, for the sum of $400 per month. The firm collected some $800 recently for March and April — without so much as attending a single meeting concerning school negotiations with certified employees.

FLASHY FLASH — Lot of activity going on down in Redwood City, namely at the office of County Recorder Marv Church where the JESD candidates' campaign expenditure and contribution statements are kept. Seems there are some items not accounted for in a couple of instances. Oh, the winners laughed and told jokes . . . and the losers said, "Deal. Lucky, deal." Or so the old poker poem goes.

We'll let you in on the messy details as they unfold.

THERE'S SIMPLY NO TRUTH to the story circulating that the newest JESD trustee, Dave Parker, will be sworn in by a hooded axeman who will, at the conclusion of the oath of office, present trustee Parker with a miniature guillotine. That's a sick sick story that must be stopped.

THOSE OPPONENTS of the NEW majority — Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Forrester and Parker — are trying to pin a "Liz Borden" label on 'em. Good Old Liz is the girl who, according to misguided legend "Took an axe and gave her mother 40 whacks. And when she saw what she had done, she gave her father 41."

Glenn Smith

SMCC Chancellor Optimistic

BY JOHN HORGAN

In his 15 years at California State University, San Francisco, Glenn Smith has probably been through it all.

From the riots and severe campus disruptions of the late Sixties to the state's educational retrenchment of the Seventies, Smith's term has spanned a wide spectrum of academic problems.

During that time, he has seen seven college presidents come and go. As vice president at the university, now San Francisco State College, Smith has served under three presidents.

Presently, that institution is in a state of some turmoil as the state system's trustees search for another president for the retiring Dr. S. I. Hayakawa.

The trustees this week disbanded a search committee from the school and announced that they would now assume full responsibility for hiring a new leader.

Smith was in Los Angeles at the board's meeting when the fateful statement was made.

"I guess you could say I've seen it all," Smith says, implying that it is almost fitting that as he is about to move south into San Mateo County to take over the chancellorship of the San Mateo Community College District his prior institution seems to be on the brink of another serious conflict.

Over a breakfast of scrambled eggs, fried potatoes, toast and hot tea, Smith is musing that little can happen in San Mateo County that he hasn't encountered already in San Francisco.

"I think that's one of the reasons I accepted the job here," he says. "In many cases, the units of American life are almost too big for the managers to handle. That's why I look forward to coming to San Mateo. You can embrace the problems here. They are much more manageable."

But Smith, who takes over for the present chancellor, Clifford Erickson, on June 4, is not entering a totally happy situation in this district either.

HE WILL have problems. And he knows it.

"I see a kind of analogy between what has been happening at State and what has occurred in San Mateo," he points out. "As State came out of the trouble of the Sixties it was suddenly confronted with a lowering of state support and the new phenomenon of a no-growth population pattern. In San Mateo, the district was confronted with a tax override election that had failed (in the fall of 1970) and then the realization that here too the student population was remaining fairly static."

"This is a whole new ballgame for administrators who have been used to nothing but growth every year. Now, we find that our resources can't be shifted around quite so easily any more. There have been really profound changes in education since 1966. And everyone is green together. Maybe that's good."

For Smith, 48, a resident of San Mateo and the father of four children, one of whom attends the College of San Mateo, he believes that a critical task for him lies in that area of planning with the knowledge that those halcyon days of rapid expansion are probably gone forever.

"In this district," he continues, "the overall growth won't amount to much but, at the three individual colleges, different rates of growth will occur. We shall have to deal with that."

"The district has some problems too in the decision-making process itself. Some of the lines of authority have been blurred. We have to determine who can do what. There must be better definitions of roles. There must be no ambiguities about what people are expected to do. And I don't think that Erickson should be stung for all this either."

But he has been. TIME AFTER tumultuous time, Erickson has been criticized and verbally lashed by just about every faction in the 26,000-student district.

The faculty gave him a clear vote of no-confidence shortly after a successful tax override election in 1971 and he has been a favorite whipping boy for both the board of trustees and the tenure here.

It was hardly a secret that the board was on the verge of firing Erickson when he beat the trustees to the punch by offering his resignation last October.

And, with Erickson's leadership in question nearly two years, a vacuum at the top of the administrative heap has been conspicuously evident.

Many factions have tried to fill that vacuum, including certain trustees and various faculty factions and individuals. The net result has been a portrait of confusion and rancor on all sides.

Finding another chancellor has been the top priority item on the board's list of endeavors this year.

Smith was not the top choice of the trustees as they attempted to hire a replacement. Several other seemingly qualified men turned down the post and its $39,000 salary.

However, one trustee has said that Smith fulfills all of the expectations of the board, particularly in the realm of personality and leadership.

Erickson has been rapped consistently for his low-key approach to the district's problems and one of Smith's obvious attributes is his gregarious nature and his ability to rub elbows with teachers, students and administrators alike.

Post sees things differently. By examining the history of state income and expenditure trends, and by employing selected income estimates, he concludes that the pressures that escalated state revenues since 1961 will not be repeated. He attacks the assumptions of the governor that state tax rates will continue to be increased at the same level as during the last 13 years, and that the growth of personal income in California will exceed the exceptional rate experienced during this period.

The task force responds that by Post's own calculations the governor's projected growth is somewhat more modest than that experienced from 1961-1974. They attack Post's conclusion that it is "highly speculative" to assume that tax rates will be increased in future years given the agreed upon historical record.

In any event, says the governor, the exact future projections aren't that important. The proposed amendment is designed to assure Californians that the historical growth of California's state and local government will be slowed.

(2) Post makes the point that appropriations for capital outlays count toward the limits for that year under the proposed amendment, even though the funds will be spent over several years. He concludes that this will result in the legislature appropriating the least possible amount annually for capital outlay.

The task force claims that this is a good thing, arguing that this requirement "should produce more precise and accurate capital outlay appropriations and procedures."

(3) Post lists as one of his objections that the amendment does not authorize an increase in the expenditure limitation if the federal government shifts costs to the state.

The task force responds that the revenue limit should not be left to the whim of the federal government by allowing automatic shifts in program costs. They claim that the setting of priorities is at the heart of limitation, and that, in any event, the people through referendum may adjust the limit.

And so it goes. These and other arguments await public testing and examination. On balance the proposal has great merit. That its language and effect are complicated should not dissuade the voter who is tired of high taxes, for its very complexity is required by the present involved condition of California finances.

(4) Post claims that the constitutional amendment does not limit state revenues, but that it does limit expenditures.

The task force hotly responds that the amendment is a limit on state tax revenues. It points to language within the initiative that requires the legislature either to refund accumulations in the Tax Surplus Fund, or to adjust tax rates and/or tax bases so that the net taxes borne by California taxpayers remain within the tax revenue limit.

And so it goes. These and other arguments await public testing and examination. On balance the proposal has great merit. That its language and effect are complicated should not dissuade the voter who is tired of high taxes, for its very complexity is required by the present involved condition of California finances.

Sing, Dance

Library services for persons who speak Spanish came to Daly City on May 24. There was singing and dancing to herald the event and a puppet show depicting one of Mexico's oldest folk tales.

All of this illustrated, once again, that public library services is bursting its ancient shell to become the cultural arm of city government. No longer are libraries confined to rows of books, although these are important; no longer are they the providence of the stiff and the prim.

But more than this, the "Spanish Heritage" night illustrated that the fabric of California contains the threads of many cultures with the brightest of them coming from Latin America.

SO ON MAY 24, we say young Americans of Spanish origin whirling through the steps of dances as old and as venerable as any that came from the Anglo part of the world. The glamour of the dancers' costumes and the smiles on their faces caused some of us who were watching to wonder from whence these dances came.

Our subsequent reading revealed that some of the steps go back to pre-Columbian times to the prayer forms of the Aztecs and the Mayans.

For example, we learned that the Aztecs had their "cuicauilli" (houses of song), near their temples, where teachers lived who devoted themselves exclusively to instructing the young to play and sing and dance. Classes began before sunset when the boys and their chaperones met the girls and their elderly women on a patio where they could sing and dance happily for hours while Macuilxochitl, the god of music and dance, smiled upon them.

Such dancing and music was necessary for every religious and secular fiesta. The gods required it; the people demanded it, and through dancing and singing they interpreted such verses as this:

I sing that I may be heard,
Not because my voice is good;
I sing to make known my laments
In my own land and in others.

In such music and dancing the author, Frances Toor, found a people who could express the entire gamut of their emotions.

MS. TOOR'S BOOK, "A Treasury of Mexican Folkways," has been called "a magnificent all-inclusive account of the Mexican people, their colorful, dramatic, and ancient traditions and their ways of life, worship, work, and play."

While it is too much like a tourist guide to provide more than an introduction to a land that spawned the culture of a fourth of Northern California's citizens, it is a place to start.

Similarly there are books to start with in gaining an understanding of South and Central America. Among them are the "South American Handbook," Myra Waldo's "Travel Guide to South America," "Eagles of the Andes" which is Carleton Beals' account of the South American struggles for independence, "The Golden Dream" by Walker Chapman, Anne Merriam Peck's "The Pageant of South American History," and Mariano Picon-Salas' "A Cultural History of Spanish America."

READING SUCH books and putting into practice the results of gaining an understanding of all strains of our society is a step towards the ancient dream by St. Paul: " . . . He giveth to all, life and breath and all things."

"And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth."

Complex Arguments State On Tax Limitation

The mechanical task of securing signatures for Governor Reagan's tax and expenditure limitation proposal is presently under way. Whether the issue will qualify in time for a November election will soon be known as the final days for signature collection pass.

Assuming qualification, the election will be unique. For one thing, the proposition will be the only statewide issue on the ballot. For another, the initiative is extraordinarily complex, and the arguments against its adoption compound complexity.

A. Alan Post, the legislative analyst, has written a report that challenges the initiative itself as difficult reading. In turn, the governor's task force has prepared an item by item analysis of the Post critique. One imagines that Post, not to be outdone, is preparing an answer, and that both sides will continue ad verbiem.

This rising tide of statistics and predictions has not, as yet, captured public attention. Other, more spectacular matters have preempted the news. Furthermore, a campaign could never be mounted to prevent Californians from signing petitions. Given sufficient time (and time has been short for this petition) volunteer and professional circulators can get Californians to sign just about anything. So up to now, proponents have pursued the chore of signature chasing, and both opponents and proponents have been quietly preparing for the fall campaign.

The form of that campaign can be visualized, at least partially, through an examination of the Post findings and the opposing comments prepared by the governor's task force on tax reduction. These documents disclose certain fundamental differences that will, doubtless, be repeated and embellished during the campaign.

Post lists 34 findings at the outset of his examination. Not all of these are crucial, but included are some arguments that go to the heart of the issue. Brief consideration of some of these show where the real battle may take place.

(1) The governor estimates that state revenues will almost quintuple within the next 17 years from $9.8 billion in 1973-74 to $47.1 billion by 1989-90.

Post sees things differently. By examining the history of state income and expenditure trends, and by employing selected income estimates, he concludes that the pressures that escalated state revenues since 1961 will not be repeated. Better Business

Confusion Over Type of Company

By LORENE BEASLEY

Q. Can I complain about an employment agency which is trying to charge me for making up a job resume? They said they wanted to send the resume out to various companies.

A. "You are evidently confusing employment agencies with organizations that charge for resume writing and mailing the resumes to a list of companies. This is a common confusion and a source of complaints to the Better Business Bureaus, particularly against companies offering overseas work, child modeling assignments and homework opportunities."

Q. "I bought a clock radio at a local store last May. When it stopped running shortly after being out of warranty I took it to a suburb repair shop, which tried to find a new part for the radio and even had a representative of the manufacturer look it over. I was finally told that the radio was too old and no spare parts were available. The same radio is being advertised by some local stores."

A. A BBB investigator picked up the radio and took it to the manufacturer's area repair center, and was told: The radio had been manufactured last May, the center had the repair part in stock, they could fix the radio at a cost of about $12 for labor and $1.51 for the part, parts for any radio made by the company are available for approximately eight years after the radio is manufactured, confusion about the particular part was due to a catalog that was not up-to-date.

Q. "I want to complain about a store that sold me an electric iron. An hour after I bought it I found the identical model on sale in another store for $1.28 less. The store won't give me a refund."

A. "A store does not have to match a competitor's sale price. Also, remember there are other factors to consider when making a purchase — service, handling of warranties, credit, etc."

Q. "Four magazine salesmen recently visited my office and in the process of trying to sell me subscriptions, claimed to be endorsed by the Better Business Bureau. Does the Bureau endorse salesmen?"

A. The Bureau does not endorse any product, service or company and claims of this sort should be disregarded.

Home runs by Milt Panagotakis and Mike Sturgeon also helped the Crunchers in their come from behind win. Even in cloudy weather the Turf Club kept the Thunder team from erupting by winning, 7-1. Gilio Cosentino pitched a good game and was supported by a strong defense and hitting of Don Katona, Denny Russo and Larry Kenchettini.

The Country Clubbers once again showed a lot of punch as they battered the Softballs, 16-3. Rick McKitchie pitched a good game and also had 4 hits, one being a home run, to lead the Clubber attack. Joel Carrara, Steve Roche and Doug Matgen also had a bundle of hits for the undefeated Country Clubbers.

B League North - Westlake Pizza uncorked Broadway Plumbing 8-3 in a well played game. In the end the pitching of Dan Luciano was too much for the Plumbers. Luciano was backed up by a defense that just didn't make mistakes. In other games the Pomona Casuals blasted the Sluggin Fools, 9-3 and the Odd Squad destroyed the shorthanded Motleys 14-4.

The Big League - The Marauders stayed undefeated as they came from behind to beat the Misfits 14-9. The evening looked as though it was over for the Marauders, but they rallied to score 9 runs in the seventh inning to bring home the victory.

The highlights were Don Emmett's two run single with two outs to tie the score and the two homers-hits in one inning by Pat Canavan.

The Hillside Master Batters found a leak in Broadway Brake and Tire and defeated them 20-14. Danny Caprin hit two homers for the Batters and drove in six runs to lead the winners home. Joe Donnelly, Tom Gross and Dennis Germano also had good games for the winners in the field and at bat. In another game the Brewsters throttled Mito's 12-8.

Back Again!

Here we are folks, back again after a week's absence, and for all you one people who called to inquire of our health—thanks—but our missing column last week had nothing to do with illness, unless our editor was sick of reading the column.

What happened was that for the second time this year, he forgot to send it in to be printed. At least that's his story. Perhaps here is a message kicking around in there.

We mention all of this so that you will understand why some of our material this week may seem dated—like for instance our comments on the Bobby Riggs-Margaret Court mis-match.

WHAT AMAZES us most about aftermath of the match is the fact that nobody seems willing to give Riggs any credit for whipping Ms. Court, while almost everybody seems willing to make excuses for her. Why the beating of a world champion should elicit excuses is beyond our ken. After all, she did accept the match. Unless she thought she could beat Riggs, we doubt whether she would have. But still the beats go on, one of the most common being that poor Ms. Court was under tremendous pressure. That is an absurd excuse. She is a champion, after all, which means she has played many high pressure matches before.

What about the pressure on Riggs? He WAS the participant who had done the popping-off, the one who had offered the challenge. If Margaret was representing all the ladies of the world, Bobby was certainly representing all the men. And since men are expected to be superior to women athletically, wouldn't it have been more humiliating for Riggs to lose?

And then there are the people who say Riggs beat her with junk shots, as if junk shots are illegal, or something new. Not only are they as legal as the annoying discipline used by the big power players, but they are certainly not new, especially for Riggs, who played essentially the same way when he was in his prime.

There are those who say that Ms. Court played a dumb game because she didn't bring Riggs into the net, where she's most effective. We haven't heard anybody yet credit Riggs for playing the kind of game which was designed to keep her away from the net precisely because Riggs knew that if he let her play that game, he could lose. To listen to some of the experts, one might suspect that strategy and cleverness has no part in tennis.

"Margaret didn't play her game," cry the woman libbers, as if she had planned it that way. Again, Riggs' skill was such that he wouldn't allow her to play her game. The fact that she played Riggs' game shouldn't be a blemish on her record but a star on Riggs' report card.

ONE THING that many overlooked in the first place was that there had been precedence for women champs playing men of lesser stature, and not even the best of women had ever beaten a reasonably good male tennis player. Riggs, however, the master hustler, saw a pigeon loose and managed to throw a blanket on history long enough to pick up a little money and a bundle of free publicity which will undoubtedly lead to more money.

And besides, Ms. Court should have realized that once you hit that age 30 mark, you're on your way downhill.

ANOTHER TARDY comment, this one on C.I.F. ruling which will now allow high school girls to go out for varsity sports. The great liberals of the world may applaud this move, but once their exhilaration wanes they may discover that the ruling will hurt girls' athletics more than it will help.

We don't, in fact, know of a lady physical education teacher in favor of the rule. To begin with, it will rob girls' athletic programs of their star athletes, since the best female athletes could make male teams.

On the boys' side, it will mean, inevitably, that one or two marginal male athletes on many teams, who might have had a chance of making a block, albeit in a secondary role, will be deprived of that chance. And while they have only once chance of making a varsity team, girls will have two, because if they do go out for the boys' teams and fail to make them, they can always return to the girls' team. But where do the flunked-out males go? The rule says nothing about males being allowed to participate for girls' teams.

If the C.I.F. DOES come out with a ruling that a girl may go out for only one or the other team, what happens if she goes out for the boys' team and fails to make it? Then she's not participating at all, and isn't participation, after all, the ideal in high school athletics?

IT WILL invariably follow that school dards, pinched for money and almost all of them are, will determine that it is a waste of money to finance two separate athletic programs when girls can now participate in boys' sports, and will budget for only one program, thus insuring that only the best of female athletes will be able to participate, while many just average girl athletes will be left as rooters rather than participants.

That it will often put male coaches in untenable positions is without question. Terra Nova High School varsity basketball coach Bud Bresnahan offers one example:

"I don't see this situation coming up very often in basketball," he says, "but it can easily happen in football and baseball. When I coached baseball, I always seem to get one or two kids out for the team who obviously had no right being out, and could literally have been hurt out there. It is our responsibility to make sure that a student is capable of protecting himself on that field. And if we allow a kid to play who isn't capable of that, we're liable."

"Yet, if we cut a girl because we don't feel she can protect herself, we have the woman's libbers down on us calling us male chauvinist pigs, saying that we're using that excuse as a ploy."

This entire problem could be solved if only someone in authority some day has the intelligence and courage to cite the fact that there really are a great many emotional, psychological and physiological differences between males and females.

Boys' Baseball League Play Keeps Improving

With each passing week, the teams improve in the Daly City Boys Baseball League. Very few of the leagues have a clear-cut champion. The following are the results and highlights of last week's games:

EIGHTH GRADE JUNIOR LEAGUE — LBYA Cougars 3, AAA Hustlers 1.

The Cougars remained undefeated for the sixth straight week. They received fantastic pitching and enough hitting to win. Jeff Jones and Roy Weckmetoah combined once again to pitch their team a little closer to the championship. Danny Lara and Weckmetoah had outstanding games hitting the ball for the Cougars. The other game, OLM Blue Sox 10, St. Thomas More 3.

SEVENTH GRADE INTERMEDIATE — Holy Angels 4, SAL Wildcats 3; PAL Liners 8, St. Thomas More 1. The Liners were just too much for St. Thomas More as pitchers Robert Avila and Tony Moquin only allowed 1 run and that came in the first inning. Robert Avila, Greg Eagleton, Ken Rodriguez and Randy Givens, all had good days with the bar for the Liners. Givens was also instrumental on the bases as he stole cleanly 5 times. The other games: Carriage House 6, PAL Eagles 2; OLM Blue Sox 10, OLM 9; PAL Colts 7, LBYA 3.

who had broken off to run to third. Many old-timers were interviewed about that one, and nobody could remember having seen anything like it before.

But yours truly saw it in the Pacific Coast League right after the war—1947, we believe. The Seals had a man on second, no outs, and the batter popped in front of the plate. A scrappy little catcher named Eddie Malone, who played for either the Hollywood Stars or L.A. Angels, jumped in front of the plate, grabbed the ball, and saw he had the runner hung up between second and third, flat-footed. Malone hung on the ball and ran straight at the runner, continually bluffing throws. The runner, not knowing which way to go, just froze, and Malone ended up tagging the runner himself, without ever throwing the ball. A rarer play, actually, than the one made by Rader.

FLASH FOR YOU Missionites! On June 1, Friday, at 7:30 p.m., at Mission High, Mission officials and alumni will dramatize the school's upcoming move to temporary facilities at Poly while Mission is earth quake-proofed, with a festival and civic ceremony which will include the opening of boxes placed in cornerstones of Mission buildings by the classes of 1897 and 1927. Dignitaries will include S.F. Mayor Joe Alioto.

Bill Mustanich, former baseball coach who has directed the alumni athletic program at Mission for 20 years and who, along with assistant principal Cornelius Murphy is coordinating this event, is encouraging all alumni to participate.

He also notes that there will be an informal gathering of alumni later that evening at the Red Chimney, which may turn out to be more lively than anything that might happen around the cornerstones.

TAG: Bob McClure, former Terra Nova all-league southpaw hurler who has absolutely the best move to first base we've ever seen by a high school or college pitcher, has not only made the Golden Gate Conference all-league team, representing College of San Mateo, but was named by coaches as the league's Pitcher of the Year.

Both teams had excellent pitching from 7 different hurlers. The PAL Cardinals shut out OLM by a final count of 5-0 as Dave Maxion, Rich Baxley and Brian Barron combined to throw a very artistic white wash.

OLM downed LBYA 4-1 but it took a great defensive diving stop of a ground ball by Gary Migale to turn back a determined LBYA team. The SAL Tigers outgassed the PAL Tigers to claim a 10-4 victory. Greg Simon had a perfect 3 for 3 game to lead the winners' attack. In the last game of the week, the PAL Cardinals crushed the PAL Tigers 17-1. Steve Harper, homered for the Cardinals and the excellent pitching of Willie Doherty, Mike Venton and Nolan Smith, shut the door on potential Tiger rallies.

The PAL Giants clubbed out a 9-3 win over SAL as Steve King, Russell Wyatt, Jim Dixon and Larry Beal all contributed excellent defense for the Giants. OLM shaded St. Thomas More to claim a 5-4 victory.

St. Thomas More came back to down the SAL Marsupials 14-10 in a pitcher's nightmare. OLM edged OLM 4-2 as Candan, Bender and Ray Pitched gold baseball for the OLM team. Hunts defeated PAL in a battle of the Giants by a final count of 13-4. Ben Santiago led Hunts' defense with some excellent plays at shortstop. No Clear-Cut Champs In D.C.

With a month to go there are no clear-cut champions in sight in our Daly City Recreation Department Boys Baseball Leagues. The games are now getting to the point where all of the teams are playing together and the excitement of watching is of high standing. All of the boys are doing a good job and each week new stars are discovered. The following are the scores and highlights of last week's games:

Eighth Grade Junior Division

The Cougars went another week without tasting defeat as their prey this week were the OLM Raiders. Pitchers Jeff Jones and Roy Wickmetoah were dynamic on the mound once again. The hitting star of the game turned out to be speedy Rafael Campos.

The speedy PAL Liners broke out of a slump with 11 hits and 17 stolen bases. Leading hitters with two hits each were John Rodriguez, Greg Eagleton, Paul Stranzallo and Bill Fry. Ken Rodriguez joined the slugging parade with a towering home run which carried into the next diamond. As the game ended it was a fact that the pitching of Robert Avila and the Liners' clutch hitting were too much for the hustling SAL Wildcats.

OLPH Tigers 8, LBYA Cobras 2.

Carriage House 7, PAL Colts 0.

PAL Eagles 7, St. Thomas More 4.

Strong pitching was the outstanding asset which led to victory for the Eagles. The team played an outstanding defensive game and Sean Sissor led all hitters with three hits.

With the game tied in the last inning Ira Castillo rocketed a home run with a man on base to win it for OLM.

In a tightly contested pitchers' duel the Cardinals prevailed 2-1 as Brian Barron ripped a base hit with two runners on to drive in both Cardinals runs. Pitchers for the Cardinals who did a tremendous job were Dave Maxion, Brian Barron and Rich Baxley.

Staff Shake-up Eyed in Wake of S.S.F. Election

By JACK BIK

Many South San Franciscans are wondering whether heads will roll as the industrial city's government takes on a new shape with this week's election of Terry-Mirri to the city council.

After new councilman Terry-Mirri taking oath of office at El Camino High School Tuesday, is expected to side with veteran councilmen Pat Ahern and Bill Borba to re-establish the old majority formerly composed of Ahern, Borba and Frank Bertucelli. That majority was broken up last year when the late Gordon Boblitt ousted Bertucelli. Bertucelli was one of Mirri's supporters in this election.

The 1972 majority of Boblitt, Frank Mammimi and Warren Steinkamp lasted only until January of this year, when Boblitt was killed, leaving the council immobilized, with a 2-2 split on virtually every issue requiring a council vote.

Even before Boblitt's death, however, it was becoming difficult for Mayor Mammimi to conduct council business. Lengthy wrangles would follow every item on the agenda, as Borba and Ahern would question the way that the majority councilmen, City Manager Gale Dreisbach and the other top officials operated the city.

City employees became increasingly opposed to the administration after five engineering positions were suddenly eliminated when a contract was signed with the VTN engineering firm to take over major city functions.

Mirri vows he will be completely independent; how that promise will work out in practice will be the center of much interest during the next few meetings. He has denied published reports that he has promised to fire a number of top city officials. These would include Dreisbach, Police Chief Sal Rosano, Fire Chief Lawrence Toellner and Finance Director Ed Alario.

Dreisbach has come under increasingly critical questioning by Ahern, even to the point of publicly clashing with him. When Toellner was appointed in January, an advertisement appeared in a local newspaper, signed by every fireman, protesting his appointment on the basis that local firemen were being overlooked for promotion. Toellner had just retired from the Oakland Fire Department.

Since Rosano's appointment as police chief in 1970 he has earned a respectable record in law enforcement circles. However, the current personnel hearing on his firing of Police Officer Keith Pazackerly has revealed a certain amount of dissension on the force, particularly over Rosano's system of grading officers' performance. Rosano had been appointed over the "no" votes of Ahern and Bertucelli.

There has been virtually no criticism apparent of Alario, who is simply performing a technical job. However, his position as assistant city manager and a top department head seems enough to put him in a vulnerable position in South San Francisco.

Another place where heads may roll is among the city's various boards and commissions. A precedent for this possibility was set last year when Boblitt's election was followed by replacement of many members, as well as a number of resignations. Commissions to watch, particularly, will be the planning commission, personnel board and the park and recreation commission. The personnel board had been a particular center of controversy in past years, over its administration of the civil service system.

One change is fairly certain with Mirri's victory. The two-term limitation for councilmen will be repealed. Mirri has spoken out strongly against this limitation, which was put in shortly after Boblitt's victory, by a 3-2 vote. The repeal of the limitation will enable Ahern to run for reelection next year, for his fourth term.

Ahern may also again find himself mayor of South San Francisco.

Last month, Mammimi re-

signed his chairmanship of the city council, to become a plain councilman once more, explaining that he had served his year and that it was the turn of Vice Mayor Warren Steinkamp. However, Ahern and Borba refused to go along with Mammimi, leaving Steinkamp as only "mayor pro-tem."

This will be one issue where the choice would be Mirri's. Should he also decline to back Steinkamp for mayor, that would leave Ahern and Borba for the post. Borba had served the term before Mammimi.

There is also the possibility that Mirri himself would be elected mayor, on the basis of his landslide victory. The election for mayor could possibly take place at Tuesday's meeting — unless the councilmen feel some negotiation is needed.

Mirri won by a landslide victory of 3,413 votes, out of 8,504 cast — 1,254 votes ahead of Don Gamma, who in turn was only 340 votes ahead of John Penna. Fourth-place candidate Frank Rosati was way behind, with just 309 votes. Others included: Arthur Elliott, 258; Glenn Hauck, 231; Elmer Hitchcock, 146; Milton W. Henke Sr., 83; Alfred Romine, 41, and John Sciarra, 40.

Mirri received 40 per cent of the vote; Gamma, 24 per cent; Penna, 21 per cent, and all the other candidates, 13 per cent.

A preliminary analysis of the precinct by precinct vote shows that Gamma lacked, in particular, a citywide appeal.

Taking typical precincts in "Old Town": Spruce School—Mirri, 321, Penna, 117, and Gamma, 31; Magnolia Recreation Center — Mirri, 213, Penna, 76, and Gamma, 36; Parkway Junior High — Mirri, 380, Penna, 118, and Gamma, 36. In one precinct, at Martin School in Paradise Valley, Gamma pulled just three votes, tying for fifth place, while Mirri won 99 votes, and Penna 55.

On the other hand, the three precincts in Westborough gave Gamma 741 votes — more than a third of its entire city vote — but also gave Mirri 140 votes, and Penna 68 votes.

If Gamma was to stand a chance of winning without the votes of "Old Town," it had to be in the heavily populated post-World War II subdivisions west of El Camino Real.

There, Gamma received the bulk of his vote, but even in those areas, Mirri usually came in a strong second or third. Mirri even came in first in several west-of-El Camino precincts. At Buri Buri School, Mirri polled 146 votes, to Gamma's 77 and Penna's 57.

Altogether Mirri carried 20 precincts (including absentee votes), Gamma won at nine precincts, while Penna and Gerald Hauck each carried one. Gamma did not even run second in most precincts. Penna came in second 18 times; Gamma, eight times, and Mirri, six times.

Penna won in the Sunshine Gardens precinct; Hauck in the Treasure Island Trailer Court.

Gamma, who managed Boblitt's successful campaign last year, has admitted that his group, which had failed to campaign in "Old Town," would have to make a more citywide campaign next year, in order to beat Ahern and Borba, whom he expects will run for re-election. In addition, however, the figures show that his campaign was lacking even in those areas where he did campaign.

Many other factors operated in the campaign.

Mirri had the backing of Ahern, Borba, Bertucelli — and many old-time South San Franciscans. Having never held office, however, he had few political enemies.

"I could just feel the chemistry working," the 28-year-old candidate remarked on election night. "The old-timers like me — and the younger people favored me as well."

Mirri's appearance was in direct contrast to Gamma. Mirri is clean-shaven and always conservatively dressed with white shirt, quiet tie, and neat dark suit. Even though Gamma is a corporation executive, he wears a beard and dresses casually, antagonizing many old-timers.

WANT TO KNOW THE HONEST TRUTH ABOUT GROUND BEEF?

IT'S THIS: NOBODY can guarantee its EXACT fat content.

There's been lots of talk lately about the fat/lean ratio in ground beef. So why not label each package. Contains X% of fat? Let us tell you why.

We've been making ground beef just about as long as anyone and we know there's no way to make two batches that are exactly alike. Two samples taken from the same batch (or even the same package) can differ in ratio of fat to lean. Even with meticulous care in selecting ingredients, there are variations in fat/lean ratio. Even with our most modern grinding and mixing equipment. Even with use of the best available fat-measuring devices.

Yet we know our customers want and expect us to provide them with a choice of ground beef products to meet their varying preferences, tastes and budgets. After long and careful consideration, we have concluded that we can best meet our customers' need for variety by offering just two ground beef products—REGULAR and PREMIUM. We make both kinds from fresh chunks of beef. We prepare both kinds with equal care to maintain the top quality which has helped earn our fine meat reputation.

Our REGULAR is made the way we believe most families prefer their ground beef. It contains enough fat to assure full juiciness in the cooked meat. It makes marvelous hamburgers, meat loaves, meat balls, spaghetti sauce, Salisbury steak and other delicious dishes.

Our PREMIUM is made to please families that want a leaner ground beef. It shrinks less in cooking and makes wonderful ground beef dishes of all kinds—plain and fancy.

Why not try both kinds and see which is preferred by the folks at your house? (You might even want to make a mix with some of each.) The famous Safeway money-back guarantee applies, of course, to our ground beef as to all of our other products.

Daly City Camp Fire Girls Hold Grand Council Fire

Camp Fire Girls of Daly City held a successful Grand Council Fire at the War Memorial Building recently.

Theme of the evening was "Camp Fire is a family affair." We follow the Camp Fire trail hand in hand with our parents filling our homes and hearts with happy thoughts.

The evening opened with the beating of the ceremonial drums by the Ko Ki Ta Wan Ka Discovery Club and the entrance of all the groups singing the processional. The flags were escorted in by the Wa-Han-Ka group. The fire lighting ceremony and the singing of the Camp Fire law came next followed by the Blue Bird fly up.

The third grade groups, "The Happy Blue Birds" with Mrs. Irene Koepel as leader and "The Honey Bear Blue Birds" with Mrs. Fay Taylor as leader, flew up to become Camp Fire girls. They received their Camp Fire ties from older Camp Fire girls.

Girls in Mrs. Koepel's group are Lisa Egert, Heidi Flato, Valerie Hanick, Leslie Kirkwood, Karen Koepel, Karen Nordack, Roma Manning and Brenda Silverman.

Girls in Mrs. Taylor's group are Moni Ayon, Christine Callo, Lani Lyman, Lenora Rivera, Lisa Riker, Alicia Smith, Paulette Taylor and Lisa Warnock.

Awarding of ranks was the next order of business on the agenda. The trail seeker rank was awarded to girls in the AK-TA-TI-WE-YAN-NAH, ELU-DA-PI, I-YO-HI-CIN-TAN-DA, and WAN-DA-TA-KA groups. Mrs. Jennie Smith is guardian of the AK-TA-TI-WE-YAN-NAH group. In this group are Brenda Smith, Karen Tamblin, Sandi Rosenthal and Traci Dominguez.

Girls in Mrs. Ruth Goan's group are Debra Fitzpatrick, Melissa Goan, Joanne McCarthy, Anita Oliva, Barbara Pahlka, Gina Pretti, Suzanne Reicher, and Lori Shanabarger.

Members of Mrs. Irma Schulz's group are Susan Sylvester, Lori Schulz, Karen Weis, Michele Greenbaum, Fiona Johannessen, Anne Parenti, Gail Damakas, Stella Hanis, Sandra Hernandez and Cindy Levy.

Members of Mrs. Pat Perreque's group who received the Trail Seeker rank were Karen Bourdon and Naudja Threadgill. In Mrs. Vicki Schnaars' group are Gina Fumagalli, Jennifer Heglar, Joyce Nixon, Cathy Schnaars, Julie Schneider, Katie Spencer and Valerie Stephens.

No More Tears Over Onion Crisis

The greatest onion shortage in 50 years is easing up.

"Things are beginning to straighten out," according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Floyd F. Hedlund, Hedlund, who is director of the Agricultural Marketing Service's Fruit and Vegetable Division, explained that the spring crop coming to market from Texas, California and Arizona is responsible for bringing onion prices back down from the record high they reached earlier this spring.

However, USDA's Statistical Reporting Service estimates the spring onion crop is down 9 percent from last year, so prices probably will remain above normal until the summer crop reaches the market.

The blame for the absence of the "rose of roots" from American dinner tables earlier this year lies chiefly with the weather and the rare coincidence of crop damage it caused in the number two and three onion-producing States — Texas and New York. California is number one.

New York's crop is a main source of supply for all States in the East. Its product is the storage onion — the bright yellow pungent bulb usually in ample supply through the fall and winter.

The trouble in upstate New York began on June 18, 1972, lasted until June 23, and was called Agnes. "The rains were so heavy," they physically washed out the soil and it was impossible to replant many of the same fields.

Tropical storm Agnes sliced New York's onion production in half — and that alone was enough to reduce the whole U.S. crop by nearly 7 percent. In fact, January 1973 storage holdings in New York were 44 million pounds — little more than a third of the 129 million pounds of a year earlier.

Under normal conditions, onion-lovers might have looked to the 1973 early spring crop in south Texas to alleviate the March and April shortage. But this past winter brought cold weather and rain. The result, according to Fruit and Vegetable Division economist James V. Fahey, "was a South Texas crop that was short and late, instead of surpassing 1972's production of 300 million pounds, as was expected. It was the final blow."

The combined result was the "great onion shortage." "During the Korean War and World War II," said Fahey, "onion supplies were a little tight, but nothing like this."

Prices for onions at shipping point in the first half of April 1973 averaged $24.90 for 100 pounds, compared with a previous record-high of $10.20 in March 1948; according to USDA's Statistical Reporting Service.

Compounding the domestic onion situation this year was the world onion shortage. The U.S. void could not be filled with imports from western Europe, Chile, or Canada, because they were suffering scarcities of their own. Although Mexico doubled its normal exports to the United States, that was not nearly enough to make up for the short crop in New York.

Economy Beef Cut In Sauce

For this barbecue menu, round up beef round steak, an onion, tomato sauce, brown sugar, mustard and Worcestershire sauce. These simple ingredients pack a great flavor punch when braised together.

Beef round steak, lean and with a minimum of waste, is a popular penny-saving steak buy. When sliced into thin strips, round steak braises to tenderness in half an hour.

The steak is most easily sliced into strips, 1/4 inch thick or thinner, if it is first partially frozen, advises Reba Staggs, National Live Stock & Meat Board.

This recipe is convenient enough for any day, yet it's good enough for a special occasion.

Barbecued Beef Strips

Slice 2 pounds round steak (cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick) in strips 1/4 inch thick or thinner and 3 to 4 inches in length. Brown strips in 2 tablespoons cooking fat. Pour off drippings. Combine 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce, 1-3 cup water, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Add sauce and 1 medium-sized onion (thinly sliced) and stir to combine. Cover and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, 30 minutes, or until meat is tender. 6 to 8 servings.

Spicy Beans As Entree

Pork sausage, apples and spices team together with dry beans in this unusually different version of Country Style Baked Beans. It's hearty enough to be the main course, with a simple green salad to complete the meal.

COUNTRY STYLE BAKED BEANS

1 pound red beans
6 cups water
1/2 pound bulk pork sausage
1 cup chopped onions
2 cups peeled, thin-sliced tart cooking apples
2 medium cloves garlic, mashed
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cups tomato juice
Sour cream

Soak and cook washed beans in water until tender, about 2 hours. Flatten sausage in skillet; brown on one side. Turn, breaking up into fairly good-sized pieces. When browned, add to beans along with 2 tablespoons of fat and other ingredients, except cream. Mix in carefully. Bring to boiling point, reduce heat. Cover and simmer about 2 hours. Before serving, top with sour cream if desired. Makes 10 robust servings.

Fresh Corn Won't Keep

The secret to really delicious fresh corn on the cob is cooking and eating it right away — within a day or two after you buy it. If you hold it longer, the sugar in the kernels starts to turn to starch, and you lose the tenderness and sweet flavor that make fresh corn taste so good.

When you buy fresh corn on the cob, look for these signs of quality: Kernels that are plump, but not too large, and that cover the cob well.

Yellow corn of bright (not deep) color.

White corn that is really white.

Husks that look fresh and are of good green color — not dried or yellow.

Silk ends free from decay or worm injury.

Keep fresh corn in the husk in the cooler of your refrigerator until you use it. And don't forget to use it right away.

Plain Talk about beef quality...

Lucky buyers select beef after it has been government inspected, but before it is graded. (For example, confirmation of the carcass is a grading factor, but conformation has nothing to do with eating quality.) Lucky buyers look for beef that is youthful for maximum tenderness and for a minimum amount of fat (marbling) to insure fine flavor.

He will complete the remainder of his active duty training lasting from four to 10 months, at a specialized aviation school.

COAST GUARD Lieutenant Richard G. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McLean of 18 Shasta Court, South San Francisco, was engaged in extensive ecological clean-up of oil which had been spewed by the Greek tanker "Zoe Colocotron" at Cabo Rojo, P.R.

NAVY ENGINEERMAN Fireman Apprentice Edmund M. Buffington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray O. Buffington of 1156 Alcantara Drive, Pacifica, graduated from the basic Enlisted Submarine School here.

8,000 Old Age Recipients Gain Benefits

San Mateo County's 3,000 recipients of old age assistance will be the first to receive the new federal benefit payments under the amendment to the Social Security Act.

Children's Ceramics and Crafts will be offered for children ages seven and up. The R-San Mateo County class will be taught by Marilyn Bennett Wednesdays 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. beginning June 20 to five officials and the County Sunday 25. Fee is $6 for six weeks. The Ceramics Association of California also will in San Bruno on an amendment to his bill (AB 428) providing the necessary California legislation to implement the federal welfare reform bill, known as HR-1.

The amendment provides supplemental payment of the across-the-board federal benefit of $130 a month on a state-county share of 80 per cent and 20 per cent respectively.

San Mateo County Mgr. M. D. Tashers explained that the $130 federal payment is less than the average current monthly payment to aid recipients in California, and that the state has the option of providing a monthly supplemental payment. In San Mateo County that would average about $100 a month.

Although agreement has not been reached on administering the federal program, there are two options: state administration by the U.S. Social Security Administration, or state administration through contract, beginning Jan. 1, 1974.

The state currently wants to administer the program, while CSAC prefers the federal administration. Tashers reported that, in any event, the administrative costs will be assumed by the federal government and will save San Mateo County $97,000 a year. However, state law requires that the savings be passed on to the taxpayer. Tashers said, amounts to about one-half cent on the tax rate.

There currently are 67 county employees engaged in administering the existing program in the county. Tashers said it is anticipated that they will be phased into administering the local program for the federal government or phased into other county assistance programs administered by the County Health and Welfare Department.

Tashers said that he intends to ask the Board of Supervisors to endorse the Arnett bill, with the amendment.

The county manager doesn't anticipate that the new program will increase the present costs of county contributions to the assistance programs.

D.C. Soccer Team Given Its Awards

The Under 12 Soccer Team from the Westlake International Soccer Club was honored at a special awards dinner at the Broadmoor Community Center.

This team—consisting of boys aged 9, 10 and 11 years old, had taken runner-up honors in the "FLAME" soccer league, finishing only a half game out of first.

Since half the members of the squad were only 9 years old when competition started in December, their feat is remarkable.

With parents and relatives watching, individual medals were presented to team coaches Ken Burzin and also Al Silva in absentia. Al Silva who started the team, recently moved to Nevada, and this story together with his medal will be sent on.

Al Silva, a product of local high school soccer at Westmoor is well remembered by all his boys.

Individual presentation of awards was conducted by club president Al Abrams and team coach Ken Burzin. Reminded how proud the entire membership of the club, some 120 youngsters and their families, were of their fine performance, the following received their medals:

Three year club member, Greg Anawalt, Pedro Dapello, David Innocencio, David Lewbin, Nick Macchi, and Chris Wilsey. Two year club members: Chip Hansel, Kevin Moore, Carlos Quesada, Bill Rodriguez, Tim Short, Ralph Smith, Tom Sullivan, and Danny Vidmar, all first year members.

The evening concluded with soccer films starring the Brazil National Team with the great "Pele," and a visual demonstration on "Fair" play.
